states. They lost this war and while they have been taken in by the Dutch, they refuse to become Dutch nationals for the most part.

The ridiculous part of the whole mess is explained by one Johan Alvaros Manuessa, self-proclaimed president in exile, who says few of the Moluccans in Holland are interested in moving back to their native land, even if they had the opportunity. The reason is that life in Holland offers considerably more opportunity and creature comforts.

It seems in stages these terrorist raids, the bulk of the trouble is caused by the younger Moluccans and on the basis of Manuessa's statement, they are apparently more interested in raising hell than they are in actually going back to the old homeland. They blame the Dutch for not getting pressure on the present regime to liberate Molucca, a matter of considerable doubt as to whether the Dutch could effectively intercede. If the Dutch did try to meddle in what was once a colonial possession and which they freed, you can imagine the uproar that would take place all over the world. Gentle persuasion would not get much done with the present Moluccan Government, which is Indonesian.

The South Moluccan Islands were one of the first colonized by the Dutch and the natives became protestants and became loyal to the Dutch monarchy, and many of them fought in the Dutch army. When Holland turned the islands over to the Indonesian forces, these Moluccan-Dutch were considered traitors by Indonesians and they were forced to take refuge in Holland. Holland is blamed for their situation, but it is hard to see just what Holland could have done about it.

Meanwhile, we have had another nasty act of terrorism and that promises more. This terrorist himself seems to be pretty well established in all parts of the world and in most cases the terrorists' chances of getting more than publicity seems rather dim. Regardless of how solid these minorities claim to be, the powers that control the world likely to be moved.

Some resolute countries refuse to deal with terrorists, and it seems like this should be true everywhere if this useless slaughter is to be stopped. Execution of terrorists should be automatic. It's kind of like pulling weeds. You may have to pull out other weeds, but not with the tickler.

Ever thine,
The Editor.

Burrows BIF Seedstock Breeder of Year

BURROWS

Glenn Burrows, a Polled Hereford breeder from Clayton, N.M., has been selected Beef Improvement Federation (BIF) Seedstock Breeder of the Year for 1977, according to Bob de Baco, BIF National Secretary.

The New Mexico rancher and his wife Missie are recognized throughout America for the outstanding job they have done in breeding high performing Polled Herefords. The Clayton Numados and the Princess Numados have made more than met competition in official test and customer herds. Burrows, active in the American Polled Hereford Association's Guide Lines Program, a within herd record plan, also tests bulls on APHA's Superior Sire Program.

The homestead on which Burrows was born is part of the 10,000 acre ranch built entirely from its cattle income. Burrows purchased his foundation cattle from the 1893 graduation from Oklahoma State University, and his intensive performance selection dates to 1950.

Burrows is a charter member and a past president of Performance Registry International. He helped organize and sponsor the Tucumcari, New Mexico bull test and has continually participated in lead trials and performance leadership across the industry.

Da Baco further commented, "Glenn Burrows is widely known and highly respected as a pioneer performance breeder and a leader of men. It is fitting that he receive this most deserved recognition."

Anyone interested in the beef cattle industry is cordially invited to attend and participate in the judging contest and other activities. For further information and entry forms, contact Texas Polled Hereford Association, Box 70, Rio Vista, Texas 78098, 817/873-2524. Entries close for the Preview Show on June 10, 1977. The Texas Brangus Breeders Assn. held their annual summer meeting in Kerrville, June 2. The 1977-78 Texas Brangus Directory is off the press and anyone wanting a copy free of charge contact the TBBA office, P. O. Box 570, Sealy, Texas 77474. These directories have the location of each Brangus breeder in the Texas Association.

The TBBA Winter meeting will be held in San Antonio during the first part of February 1978.

Heart O' Texas Fair Announces $20,000 In Premiums

Waco—With more than $20,000 in premium money to be paid to junior livestock exhibitors and some 2,000 youth expected to compete, Heart O' Texas Fair and Rodeo officials look forward to the best show ever in the fall.

"On Rural Youth Day (Oct. 8th), we expect around 2,000 participants to compete in these four events—junior quarter horse judging, and junior grass judging, junior dairy judging, and junior livestock judging," said John Emmons, Supr. of the livestock and agricultural division of the fair. Some of the prize money will go to winners of the FFA Farm Mechanics Project show. Emmons said belt buckles will be awarded to high individuals in the judging events. Trophies or banners to the winning teams.

July 15, 1977 is the deadline for ownership of all animals. Deadline for all livestock entries is September 15, 1977.

announced that a one-sixth interest plus 1,000 ampules of semen from "Poco", one of the most proven productive three-quarter bulls in the breed, will sell in Granada's "Angus to Brangus" sale here June 27. The sale will be held at Granada's Sale and Show Barn, south of Marquez, Texas on Highway 8, starting at 10 a.m. This will be an opportunity to buy registered Angus cows that are enrolled in the Brangus program with purebred Brangus calves at side.

Selling will be 360 lots including 125 three-in-one packages, Angus cows with purebred Brangus calves and bred back to top three-quarter Brangus bulls; 125 pairs with purebred Brangus calves; and 100 cows bred to three-quarter bulls.

Most will sell in lots of three to five. Three ampules or straws of three-quarter Brangus semen goes with each cow sold. One ampule of semen from any two of these great Brangus bulls, plus on breeding certificate for each cow purchased with a purebred Brangus heifer calf at side: Rocky Joe 387, Deans Semboole, WSR Chief 348, and General. A limited amount of semen from the great Rocky Joe 650 and Tidel will be given with select purchases.

Marquez is located just off Interstate 45 about midway between Dallas and Houston.

Top of the Crop, Miss America Sale Results Reported

Two of the Brangus breed's most prestigious sales held during the 1977 International Brangus Futurity attracted hundreds of prospective buyers June 8 and 4, in Kerrville. The Hill Country Brangus Breeders' third annual Miss America Sale and Top of the Crop Sale were part of many activities making the Futurity the most popular Brangus event of the year.

The lawn of the Riverhill Country Club was the scene of the Miss America Sale on June 3 where buyers bid an average of over $4,900 for 11 heifers. These included ten halter broken heifers selected from over 30 candidates by Judge Larry Boleman. The 11th was the Grand Champion at the International Junior Brangus Heifer Futurity the previous day.

Two heifers tied for top selling female. Cuatro B Jody 18, consigned by Cuatro B Brangus, Austin, brought $5,500 from Strick's Brangus, Kerrville. Also bringing $5,500 was Crystal Gail 326/5, a consignment of Jeff Turner, Thorndale, J. W. Hastings, Wichita Falls, Texas, bought the show champion.

The Top of the Crop Sale on June 4 offered 51 consignments selected by a judging committee prior to the sale. The high selling bull was Jimmy Dean, a 2-year-old third generation Brangus, Stockade Ranch, Paige, consigned the bull selling for $2,500 to Billy Henry, Sulphur Springs. Stockade Heidi 244 topped the pairs by bringing $4,000 from Brazos Valley Ranch, Simonton. Stockade Ranch consigned the 4-year-old cow with a heifer calf at side.

The high selling bred heifer was Miss Williams 8/6 consigned by Clayton Williams, Fort Stockton. Willow Springs Ranch, Burto, bid $5,700 to own the September 1975 female. She sold bred to Rocky Joe 650, known as the breed's most complete bull and valued at $644,000.

Brangus. The Ideal Mother In Any Country.

Look at the Brangus cow. She combines the outstanding maternal traits of both the Brahman and Angus to produce a quality calf with uniformity and rapid growth to weaning. She can do all of this predictably because Brangus are not top-crossed. Brangus are derived from registered Brahman and Angus cattle.

The Brangus cow is ADAPTABLE. Because Brangus will grow all the hair they need in winter, Brangus cows survived the 1973 New Mexico blizzards. And they survived with more of their calves than the Herefords running with them. Yet Brangus maintain the summer heat tolerance of their Brahman forebears. Under friendlier conditions, Brangus outperform other breeds.

Another junior, Jeff Turner, from Thordmala, said heifer in the Miss America sale purchased by W. Hastings Ranch. This was the same heifer who was grand champion in the junior show in Houston last February, and who received the $500 cash award from us (Matt & Ann Syler). I can say from the bottom of my heart that this is the most rewarding thing anyone can do personally—present an award to the kids. Jeff's mother tells me that she is using his award from us for the purchase of a squeeze chute for the ranch.

The owners so thrilled. This is the first "major" win they have had to date, but I'm sure we'll see more of them in the future.

Another great thing was started in Kerrville. We now officially have a women's group, the International Brangus Auxiliary, which is headed this year by President Susa Graven. The main and primary function of the ladies will be the awarding of college scholarships annually to junior members of the association—just as soon as we can get the money together to begin.

SANTA GERTRUDIS NEWS

The Santa Circuit

By BUDDY SMITH

SGBI has some new faces in Kingsville. Don Wideman takes over the reins as executive vice president; two new field directors have been hired: Charles Bradberry and Kenneth Ellis. Don had a Ph. D. tacked onto his name when he received his doctorate degree in reproductive physiology, but he prefers not to be called Dr. Wideman, because most people think Ph. D. stands for "piled high and deep." Don's path and mine have crossed several times over the years. Texas A&M while he was working on his Masters degree in animal genetics and I was working on my B.S. degree in animal science. The other time was when Don was with American Breeders Service and they leased James Bond 007. Don will be a big asset to the Santa Gertrudis breed, and I'm sure all the SGBI members will get behind him to promote the "Big Red."

I haven't had a chance to be around Kenneth Ellis much but I have known Charles Bradberry ever since his early days as one of the early members of the Mid-Coast Junior Santa Gertrudis Association. Both men come to the association with high credentials.

Say, speaking of Charles being active in the Mid-Coast Junior Santa Gertrudis Assn., two other youths in this organization need recognition. Douglas Dornack graduated from the college of vet. medicine at Texas A&M, and Kathy Wendt was accepted into that school of veterinary medicine.

The national junior heifer show is picking up a lot of steam. It will be held in Dallas in October, along with the regular junior show. In order for a youth to qualify, a youth must be a 4-H or FFA member and be selected by his local affiliated Santa Gertrudis Assn. This will be the most prestigious, not to mention the highest paying, Junior Santa Gertrudis show ever held.

The Madisonville Side Walk Cattleman's Assn. had their annual show on

Don Wideman Named SGBI Executive VP

Don Wideman, Ph.D., a widely experienced cattleman, has been named executive vice president of the Santa Gertrudis Breeders International and will assume his new duties at SGBI headquarters in Kingsville, Texas in 23 weeks, according to Vernon S. Smith, Dallas, president of the SGBI.

The 39-year-old San Antonio native assumes executive leadership of an organization that is on the threshold of both much growth, and of greater services to its members, especially in the areas of breed improvement and broader relationships with, and sales to, commercial cattle producers, according to Smith.

Dr. Wideman was raised and received his public school education in the San Antonio area, was then graduated from Texas Tech in Lubbock with a degree in Animal Science, and received a master's degree from Texas A&M University, College Station, in animal breeding.

Following A&M he worked for a time with the Southwest Agricultural Research Institute, and with Essar Ranch at San Antonio.

He then went to Colorado State U. where he received a Ph.D. in reproductive physiology under Dr. Jim Whitcomb, after which he went to DeForest, Wis., as director of the beef cattle breeding program for American Breeders Service.

In July 1974, Wideman returned to Texas and became operations manager and an officer in WICO Lead & Cattle Co., with headquarters at Tyler, a firm he was with until the fall of 1976, when he went into his own cattle operations and agricultural consultant business.

In his cattle operations he has specialized in breeding Santa Gertrudis bulls to Brahman crossbred Santa Gertrudis Breeders International has announced the employment of two new field directors. They are Kenneth W. Ellis, left, and Charles M. Bradberry. They were employed following a tryout with the breed improvement committee. Bradberry joined the association May 15 and Ellis joined the association on June 15.

type cattle at one location and similar crossbreeds to Simmental and Tarentaise bulls by artificial insemination at another.

Wideman's cattle have been placed in trust for his sons, Don Jr., 13, and Dean Alas, 8, and will probably be moved to Wideman's brother's ranch near San Antonio in the next few days.

"I have been familiar with Santa Gertrudis cattle and recognized their importance as a tool for faster and more efficient beef production, and have known many of the older Santa Gertrudis breeders for a long time... and I am excited about the challenges and opportunities in my new work."

Wideman, his wife, Lucille, a native of Bryon, and two sons will announce their new address at Kingsville soon.

SGBI Names Two New Field Directors

Kingsville — Santa Gertrudis Breeders International has announced the employment of two new field directors. They are Charles M. Bradberry of Cypress, Texas and Kenneth W. Ellis of Maypearl, Texas. They were employed following a tryout with the breed improvement committee and their employment by the SGBI board of directors at a meeting held May 12.

Bradberry, 21, has recently received his BA degree in animal science from Texas A&M University. He spent his summers working as a ranch hand in Texas and Florida and was one of the first members of the Mid-Coast Junior SG Association. He has also worked part time for Josey Ranch at Cypress and for D. W. Smith at Humble, Texas. He was raised on a farm that produced soybeans and cattle. Bradberry is a high individual at the Grand National Livestock Judging Contest at San Marcos and has participated in many local and state beef judging contests.

Ellis, 27, has a degree in agriculture from Sam Houston State University. He has been a volunteer agriculture teacher at Maypearl High School since he graduated from there in 1971. During high school, Ellis cumulated a herd of cattle of his own and was awarded the Lonsdale Farm Degree in 1968. He is married and his wife is employed as a substitute teacher. His employment is to begin with SGBI June 15.

Wideman said, Wideman added that one of the Santa Gertrudis breed's biggest opportunities is in the area of its usefulness to commercial beef producers.

Wideman, his wife, Lucille, a native of Bryon, and two sons will announce their new address at Kingsville soon.

Doug Fain: Santa Gertrudis Have More Positive Points Than Any Breed

Ladonia—Doug Fain, owner of Ponderosa Santa Gertrudis Ranch here, immediate past president of Premier Santa Gertrudis Breeders Association and still a member of the association's board of directors and on the executive committee says: "Santa Gertrudis are sound cattle, they perform well, people can afford them now, and I predict that no breed can hold a candle to these big red cattle in the future."

"There's a lot of good breeds of cattle, but I think Santa Gertrudis have more positive points in total than any of the other breeds," Fain says. Fain believes his own operation proves his point. With a herd of about 100 mother cows, he manages to generate a cash flow of about $100,000 per year on 700 acres of land.

"Whose everything is counted, allowing for investment and interest it could be earning elsewhere, taxes, labor, and time—the cattle business won't show a profit, but I believe I come nearer doing it with Santa Gertrudis than any other breed could," Fain says.

Enhancement is value of the land since Fain bought it 12 to 15 years ago at about $25 per acre to its current market value of about $800 per acre makes his Santa Gertrudis business look highly profitable on paper, especially since income taxes don't have to be paid on appreciation in land value until it's sold.

have eliminated calving problems by using Santa Gertrudis bulls by getting "smaller calves at birth, but ones that hit the ground growing."

Fain's ranch office is lined with ribbons and trophies calves from his herd have taken in local and major stockshows, but he balances his breeding program with performance, and has had as many as 20 bulls on test at one time at Cooke County College at Gelineville.

Best of his heifers, however, do go to 4-H and FFA Club youngsters for showing, then starting herds, because he believes future of the cattle industry depends on getting young people interested in it and turning them into cattlemen of tomorrow.

In that respect, Fain, being a past president of Premier Santa Gertrudis Assn., first and still largest affiliate of Santa Gertrudis Breeders International, and still a board and executive committee member of Premier, places a lot of importance on the Premier organization's junior heifer show at the State Fair of Texas, for which Premier will provide $4,000 in prize money this fall. That junior heifer show will be limited to four entries from each of the 15 affiliates of SGBI. The heifers must have been born between Jan. 1, 1976 and May 31, 1977, and have been owned and cared for by the contestant.

Fain believes visual certification of each animal by experts before registration by SGBI is important because it requires that "An animal look her part, rather than just having to have a pedigree behind her."

"Santa Gertrudis are sound cattle, they perform well, and I predict that the cattle business is going to get better, and that Santa Gertrudis will make an important contribution to that," Fain said.

A paradox of our governmental system is that appointees are often disappointees.

This is the latest addition to Doug Fain's Santa Gertrudis bull battery. The three-year-old bull came from Los Jabonillos Ranch and was purchased at the recent Winrock Farm sale at Morilton, Ark.

Performance of the Santa Gertrudis is what makes Fain like the three-eighths Brahman, five-eighths Shorthorn cattle. "I have selected for mother cows that weigh around 1,200 pounds which consistently wean calves weighing 600-650 pounds at six to seven months of age," he says.

That's from single-aim groups of 20-25 cows per sire, utilizing "bull power" from the T-59, General, Winrock, Tarzan, Johnny Martin's Masterpiece, and Vernon Smith's El Colina Ranches Apache bloodlines.

Fain lives at 4444 Crooked Lane in Dallas; his business, Dornard-Poin Carports, Inc., of which he's president, is at 4444 Lovers Lane; and he has persuaded Fain's County commissioners where his ranch is located on the edge of Ladonia, to name his road Fain Lane, so he can hang the number 4444 on the door.

Born and raised at Greenwood, about three miles west of Weatherford, Texas, Fain served in World War II, was educated in banking, then worked for Farmers & Merchants Bank at Weatherford, where he became an officer. Later he bought an interest in Bernard Carports from his uncle and moved to Dallas, where he became owner and president of the firm and named it Bernard-Fain, Inc. He is now a director and member of the executive committee of Inwood National Bank in Dallas; a member of the Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport board and is chairman of its operations committee, one of two committees which operate the "World's largest airport," is a past president of the North Dallas Chamber of Commerce; is a past president of Parks Cities Lions Club in Dallas; and is a member of the Dallas City Council and was deputy mayor of Dallas last term.

With a business, banking and civic service background like that, Fain explains going into the cattle business, which is fraught with difficulty where profits are concerned, by saying "You can take a boy out of the country, but you can't take the country out of the boy."

He has owned herds of registered Angus, Herefords, Churbrays, and now Santa Gertrudis, a breed that was developed in Texas and combines the ruggedness and growth characteristics of the Brahman and the milk-producing ability, docility, and choice beef producing characteristics of the Shorthorn.

"The Santa Gertrudis have proved highly adaptable to all climates, and are making a real contribution to the commercial cattle industry through their ability to increase weaning weights through cross-breeding," he said.

That's where Fain's major market has been—the commercial producers, especially Hereford breeders, who

NEWS about LIMOUSIN

Around The Limo Loop

BY KEN HOLLOWAY & BRUCE BROOKS

There are lots of new faces around the Limousin circle as well as the usual hard working breeders. The question that always comes to mind is "How did the new breeder learn about Limousin?" It is a logical question and one every sincere breeder should ponder.

We're not trying to get up on a soap box... just want to share a few thoughts with every purebred cattleman. Most people get into a particular breed of cattle after first reading about the breed in livestock publications or seeing the cattle at a show or sale. Their next predictable move is that they will most likely visit an established breeder of the breed being considered. They don't pick a "big breeder" or a "little breeder"; but normally a nearby well known and respected breeder.

This brings me to my points... how do some breeders expect a visitor or prospective buyer to find them? We have seen breeders who own some of the very best cattle worth thousands of dollars who "strike-out" when it comes to advertising. For example: they run paid advertisements without their phone number and/or directions to their farm or ranch; many breeders do not have any type of road sign and often times do not have their name on the mail box. Small wonder they don't have any visitors... the only people who know where they live are the mailman and a few neighbors.

Well, it's summer time and it's a good time to build a nice road sign promoting your chosen breed and your herd. Limousin breeders need not take a back seat to anyone. We've a great product that is easy to sell. Remember the old saying, "Build a better mousetrap and they'll beat a path to your door." It is not quite that easy... you must tell people about your better product, whether it be Limousin cattle or mousetraps. Won't you do your part. Other Limousin breeders have and have been well rewarded.

All-Limousin Steer Show Set Aug. 6 at Ardmore Fairgrounds

Ardmore, Okla. — An all-Limousin percentage steer show open to the world with a prize of $1,500 to owner of the champion and $750 for reserve champion will be held at Carter County Fairgrounds here beginning at 10 a.m., Aug. 6.

This show will be accompanied by an All-Black Limousin sale at 7 p.m., Aug. 6, which will follow a prelate entertainment at Budrick Farms at Mansville, Okla. at 6 p.m. that day.

Rules for the steer show are: no age requirement for exhibitor nor limit on number of steers owned by an exhibitor; all steers must be percentage Limousin; classes will be split by weight with a limit of 30 steers per class; exhibitors will be required to wear a number; and the steers will be mouthed by a veterinarian with each steer required to have a full set of baby teeth.

A non-refundable $50 cash entry fee must accompany each entry and will be payable at weigh-in time. The entry fee will go toward paying premiums and cost of conducting the show. All premiums will be paid in cash at the conclusion of judging of each class. First place in each class will get $100.

North American Limousin Foundation's executive vice president Bob Vantress, Denver, Colo., and Merle J. Derocchia, Calgary, Alberta, discussing Limousin's before the Derocchia Ranches & Associates bull sale at Coyote Hills Ranch, Chattanooga, Okla., May 1 where the 25 fullblood bulls averaged $3,194.

1st National Junior Limousin Heifer Show Aug. 11, Springfield

Springfield, Mo. — The first national junior Limousin heifer show will be held Aug. 11 in conjunction with the Ozark Empire Fair at Springfield.

Cattle will arrive Tuesday, Aug. 9, and a watermelon feed will follow in the barn that afternoon.

Glen Spafford and Mary Griswold Vantress will conduct a fitting and grooming demonstration that afternoon.

Show time is 1 p.m., Thursday, Aug. 11. Dr. Bob Kropp of Oklahoma State University will conduct the heifer show and showmanship contest.

Showmanship will feature two divisions, juniors ages up to 18 years, and seniors from 14 to 21 years old.

The Missouri state Limousin sale will be held that night.

Information is also available from North American Limousin Foundation, 100 Livestock Exchange Building, Denver, Colo. 80216, phone 809/823-8644.

Budrick's Vintage II Solid In Demand

A good solid animal. That's the way observers at the Budrick Farms Vintage II production sale described both the cattle and the action, Saturday, (CONT. ON PAGE 26)

Camilla and Willard Pfluger are shown with some of their approximately 200 Limousin cattle in background.

Willard Pfluger, Limousin Breeder, Believes Cattle Business Looking Up

Pflugerville — Willard Pfluger, president of Texas Limousin Assn., believes the cattle business is "looking up", but has a long way to go before it could be called sound.

But Pfluger and his wife Camille may have more reason to be optimistic than most beef cattle producers, because they have one of the best Limousin herds in the state.

Heading up the Pflugers' herd are two pureblood bulls, Adrian, a bull imported from Sweden and from the famous Rossgard family; and a younger sire, Francoise, of Nordic Design breeding from Nordic Farms in Canada.

Pfluger breeds artificially for about 45 days beginning around Dec. 1 each year, then holds his bulls out for another 30 days, then turns them out to clean-up breeding for cows and when bred to the same bull artificially. This program has worked for the Pflugers, and gives the junior livestock show program, where many of their Limousin calves go as 4-H and FFA club projects.

The Pflugers' Limousin cow lot consists of halfbloods to seven-eighths purebred, and recently the 16/16ths bull was born on the ranch.

Pfluger's belief that the business will get better is based on the large cow slaughter calves, have voluntarily conducted to bring better balance to the supply and demand for beef, plus the beef

Camille Pfluger demonstrates gentleness of the Pfluger Limousin cattle by letting a black three-quarter cow in the open pasture.

the new USDA beef grading standards will permit production of acceptable beef at a lower cost by doing more of it on grass or low-cost, high-roughage rations.

That's where I believe the Limousin breed is going to come to the front—our cows have proven to be good "scrubbers" and don't demand a lot of feeding," he said. That's with some reservations, however, for severe winters like the last one.

Pfluger likes his mature cows to weigh 1,000 to 1,100 pounds that wean calves weighing 500 to 550 pounds, or more when creep fed.

As president of TLA, Pfluger is actively promoting expansion of Limousin heifer shows at major stock shows throughout the state. The next show season has Limousin heifer shows lined up at both the State Fair of Texas at Dallas and Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show at Fort Worth. Work is being done on similar shows for San Antonio and Houston, but apes in those show facilities is not presently available.

Showing, Pfluger believes, is important, but must be balanced with performance. In that respect, he is also promoting Limousin bull performance testing, and a Limousin bull food test will be conducted beginning this fall at Abilene Christian University's Allen Farm at Abilene. Ray Sims, burial of Dyer-Sims Limousins, is chairman of the bull test committee.

"With the large number of championships Limousin cross steers have taken at major livestock shows, both on hoof and in the carcass classes, we know that the Limousin crosses are here to stay," Pfluger said.

"What I'm trying to do is build up to a pureblood herd, so that I can

Texas Maine-Anjou Field Day, Sale Set June 25 At New Braunfels

New Braunfels — Texas Maine-Anjou Association will hold a field day and consignment sale at Nor-Tex Farms 18 miles north of San Antonio on Interstate 35 beginning at 1:30 p.m., Saturday, June 25.

Calvin Fryar, Brownwood, president of Texas Maine-Anjou Assn., said an interesting program is being arranged for the field day on synchronization and breeding by artificial insemination, and on herd bull selection.

The sale will feature 50 lots consisting of 10 fullblood Maine-Anjou and 40 lots of purebred and even-eighths Maine-Anjou breeding cattle, plus 20 three-quarter and seven-eighths Maine-Anjou bulls from the top animals on the current bull test at Howard Payne University's bull test center at Brownwood. That test will be concluded June 17 and complete data will be available on all the test bulls.

"The Maine-Anjou bulls from the Howard Payne test have proven highly popular with commercial cattle breeders, particularly from South Texas, so we believe it's appropriate to take this bulls to where the strongest market has developed," Fryar said.

"Maine-Anjou parcentage bulls have proven highly popular with commercial cattle producers, because of the added weight they put on calves at weaning time," Fryar said.

Cattle for the sale, which is the largest offering of high percentage and fullblood Maine-Anjou ever made in Texas, are being consigned by leading breeders over the U. S. and in Canada, Fryar said.

For the field day, there will be a large display of Fullblood and high percentage cattle in addition to the sale cattle.

Longhorn Sale Sets 3 New World Records

Mountain Home, Texas — Three new world records were set at the YO Ranch here May 28 when a cow-calf pair sold for $4,400, a steer for $4,700, and the 108 lots totaled $109,650 and averaged $1,015 in the fourth annual South Texas Longhorn Sale.

"It was the best Longhorn sale I've ever handled," said Eddie Woods, of the sale attended by about 600 persons.

Setting the new-calf world record was a four-year-old purebred-Samson female 724, with heifer calf, consigned by YO Ranch and purchased by Duke Stahlacker, and his daughter, Vicki, of Neacogoches.

Setting the steer world record price was YO Bevo 1977 consigned by Dr. Charles Eastin, San Antonio, and purchased by John R. Blocker, Houston. Proceeds from the sale went to the University of Texas Extension's Assn., while Blocker, coincidentally, is a Regent of Texas A&M.

World renowned Western sculptor, H. Clay Dehlerberg of Hunt, had been commissioned to do ten special edition Longhorn steer head bronzes which were presented to consignors and buyers of champions in five classes, cow and calf, cow, heifer, bull and steer. In addition to the above, the cow champion was Bonita, Balle consigned by J. T. Suggs, Dallas, and purchased by H. C. Carter, Austin; Creek Ranch, Lubbock; the heifer champion, Frantz 88/5, consigned by C. J. Frantz, Perryton, and purchased by LS Ranches, Inc., Crowley; and the bull champion, Alamo Dandy, consigned by Happy Shahan, Brackettville, and purchased by Gary M. Green, Van Horn, for $1,200.

The 98 cows brought $84,450 for a $864 average, eight bulls $7,299 for a $910 average, and two steers $900 for a $400 average.

Reserve champions, consignors and buyers also received blue ribbons. The cow-calf consigned by Shahan and purchased by Harman Bennett, Brownwood; the cow consigned by Larry Whipple, Graford, and purchased by Tom Chandler; the heifer consigned by J. T. Suggs, Dallas, and purchased by H. C. Carter, Austin; the bull consigned by YO Ranch and purchased by LS Ranches, Inc., Crowley; and the heifer consigned by Wright Materials, Robstown, and purchased by T. Hardie Bowman.

The previous annual membership of $50 per year has been eliminated.

The American Salers Association directors also reported that their new breed journal, the "Salers Stockman" has over 20,000 circulation and is expected to be 28,000 by early 1977.

The growth in circulation was "in response to an advertising program in 62 publications which offers a Bicen-tennial gift of a free three year subscription to anyone who writes in to the American Salers Assn. headquarters at Weiser, Idaho. This gift is being funded by the Salers Handbook of France and the American Assn.

Many directors were pleasantly surprised to learn that in 1976 Salers imports to North America ranked first in total numbers over all European breeds. Salers reports from France to other parts of the world ranked second behind Charolais out of 36 French breeds. This is the first year that Salers has ranked ahead of Limousin, Shorthorn, and Maine-Anjou in exports.
